

Press information.

Page
1/2

Date
08.03.2011

Gaggenau and Comme create 'A Flight of Fancy Taste'

A Parisien laneway lunch for the Melbourne Food and Wine Festival

On Friday 11th March 2011 at 12pm, Gaggenau and Comme will be transforming Alfred Place as part of their contribution to The Melbourne food and Wine festival. A Flight of Fancy Taste will take the occupants of Alfred Place in Melbourne's CBD and transport them to a Parisian style laneway.

A Flight of Fancy Taste translates in its truest sense to mean 'an idea which shows a lot of imagination, but which is not practical or useful in real situations'. As excitingly dramatic as having executive Chef Daniel Southern display his flambé skills on Gaggenau's Vario series cooktops, in the laneway will be, it is far from practical.

The event will give members of the public an opportunity to experience what Gaggenau and Comme do best. Guests will be treated to one of three dishes, prepared by executive Chef Daniel Southern and cooked in the laneway on Gaggenaus VG232 Vario cooktop and the VR421 Vario barbeque grill - what better way to show that these professional quality appliances feature perfectly specialized performance for every conceivable cooking challenge.

Max Soans-Burne
+61 415 889 156 Phone
+613 9923 6711 Fax
max@maxandyou.com.au

MAX & YOU
www.maxandyou.com.au

For all media enquires including high-res images and comments please contact Max Soans-Burne at MAX&YOU t:+61 415 889 156 e: max@maxandyou.com.au

Press information.

Page
2/2

Date
08.03.2011

Vario Cooktops – VG232

Stainless steel / Aluminium, Gas Cooktop, 2 burners, automatic ignition, flame failure, cast iron trivet, Natural Gas or LPG (Specify with order)

Price - $2199

Vario Cooktops – VR421

Barbecue Grill, 2 cast iron grilling grids, 2 cooking zones, 9 temperature settings, stainless steel cover

Price - $4599

About Gaggenau

Gaggenau's philosophy is guided by three simple principles: design, innovation and technology. The result being a collection of kitchen appliances which stand out in terms of their unique practical advantages, the quality of their materials and workmanship and primarily their simple beauty and functional design. The difference is Gaggenau

Gaggenau is imported and distributed by Sampford IXL.

www.gaggenau.com.au